

January 13, 2010

Contact: Heather Harper (504) 289-0499

Lusher student's sculpture accepted by top ranked sculpture university art show

Virginia Commonwealth University is #1 sculpture university in U.S.

Lorien Molinario, a Lusher High School Junior in the CAVA (Creative Arts Visual Arts) program at Lusher, created a sculpture that has been accepted into an art show at Virginia Commonwealth University, which is currently ranked as the #1 sculpture university in the nation. As a level III student, her recent focus has been series work of a more conceptual nature. To see images of her work in the show, go to <http://www.vcu.edu/arts/locker50b/exhibitions/index.html> and click on the "Burst III" Gallery Selection dropdown menu or download the attached photo. Lauren plans on continuing her art education in a visual arts program college, where she will concentrate on painting.

The Certificate of Artistry (C.A.) in dance, music, theatre, creative writing, media arts, musical theatre and visual arts is a four-year program of study. Students acquire concentrated in-depth knowledge and experience in an arts discipline. Curriculum content and course studies are determined for each student based on a placement audition and/or portfolio assessment. Year-end evaluations of a student's work, discipline, skill, creativity and faculty recommendations determine promotion to the next level of course study. Assessment criteria are based on the National Standards for Arts Education.

For more information, contact Jenny Cromer at Lusher (504) 304-3961.

PHOTO OF SCULPTURE AND LAUREN ATTACHED

